

IN GOOD COMPANY

CORPORATE INDIA AND THE CLIMATE CHALLENGE

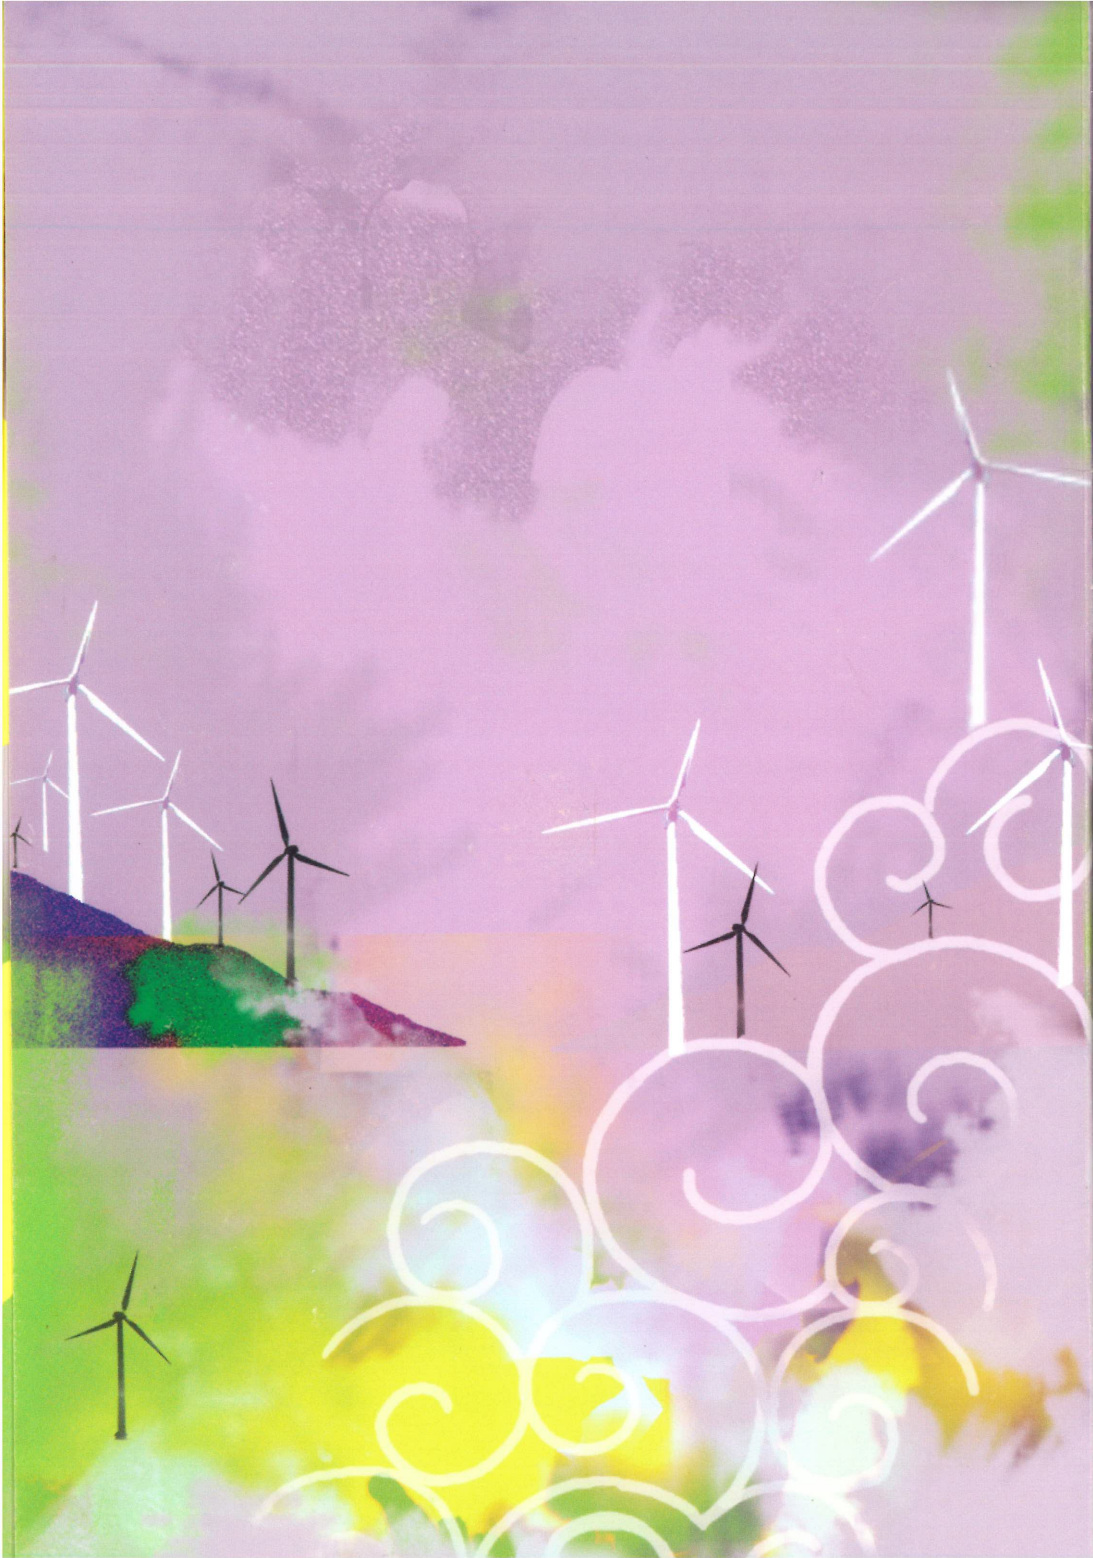

Climate change is the biggest threat of our age. It is also a huge business opportunity. How is India Inc. responding to the moral and economic imperative to act? Will it take action now or struggle to catch-up later? On the eve of a major new global agreement on climate change, this film brings a new force into view: India's corporate leaders and eco-entrepreneurs who can propel the country into a green age and change the shape of business.

Climate Change

from a problem
to an opportunity

Climate Challenge India

Climate Challenge India is an award-winning independent, non-partisan, non-political national mobilisation effort on climate change. The first of its kind in India, it was initiated by the Centre for Social Markets in 2007 to raise awareness of climate impact and opportunities and to build a strong, pro-active, leadership agenda for the country.
